

NOT ALL ACCOUNTANTS WEAR TIE SHOES

By: RICK D'ANGELO CPA, CGMA

I googled accountants and humor and did not quite receive the response I was looking for. Most of the responses were that accountants are nerds, boring, dull and not very creative.

This time of year (tax season) is when we need humor the most. We are working way too many hours and are stressed out by all the demands of the various tax filing deadlines.

So, here are a few accountant jokes I found on the internet:

- A doctor told a patient that they only had six months to live and suggested she marry an accountant. She asked if that will make her live longer. The doctor responded “No” but it will seem longer.
- Why did the accountant cross the road? Because he looked in the file and that’s what he did last year.

I know, I know, not very funny! I need to buy a pair of tie shoes so I fit in better with my fellow accountants.

That’s all folks! I have to get back to work now and tell my clients they owe Uncle Sam a lot of money and that they need an extension – only kidding!

If you have questions about your business or tax issues, please contact your Account Manager or Rick D’Angelo, CPA, CGMA, at (314) 205-2510 or via email at rdangelo@connerash.com.